TRI-COUNTY PACT DEAD IN WATER?

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan.campbell@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD City Council leader Bob Price (pictured right) has called plans for a three county combined partnership across Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire and Northamptonshire county councils as 'dead in the water'.

The three county councils are planning an 'alliance' to position themselves as England's Economic Heartland.

The alliance is putting forward plans to the government for a £2 3billion infrastructure investment in a five-year deal to improve transport across the three counties.

One of the routes to be looked at is the A34 through Oxfordshire.

However Cllr Price believes the alliance's plans for transport are simply about getting money for road projects.

Cllr Price said: "The three counties initiative is dead in the water as it does not have the support of the district councils or the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP).

"It is simply about getting money for road projects and is best described as special pleading for roads."

The Economic Heartland currently has a £46.6bn economy according to Oxfordshire County Council and the plans are to swell growth by a further £9bn each year and create at least 135,000 new jobs by 2020.

Ian Hudspeth, leader of Oxfordshire County Council said: "We are working closely with North Amptonshire and Buckinghamshire to press government to invest in these roads that are so crucial to creating jobs and helping people get to work.

"By talking with one voice we're sure that the government is more likely to listen to the strong business case for this vitally important investment that supports its growth ambition."

Cllr Price slated the Oxfordshire councils are bidding for devolution funding for themselves as a county.

Vale of White Horse District Council leader Matthew Barber said: "The government have made it clear that any formation devolution agreement must be agreed by all layers of local government."

He added: "However, whilst I agree with the plans for infrastructure proposed in the plans I cannot think an agreement could be achieved across the three counties for a single 'whole local government authority'."

Timing shocks mum of murdered teenager

ON the day Jayden Parkinson s mum was meant to be celebrat ing her grandchild s first birth- day she instead had to deal with the news that four police staff have been referred to miscon duct proceedings in relation to the investigation surrounding her daughter s murder

Thames Valley Police (TVP) confirmed on Monday three police officers and a member of staff will be subject to internal misconduct processes

Jayden 17 from Didcot was strangled to death in a jealous rage by 23 year-old ex-boyfriend Ben Blakeley in a field near Upton on December 3 in 2013

She was missing for 15 days before her body was found hid den in the grave of Blakeley's uncle

Jayden s mum Samantha Shrewsbury told the Guardian

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"I m in total shock, t m com pletely taken back. t should be celebrating my granddaughter being born into this world but instead I m having to deal with this

"I had no idea it was going to be made public today

Blakeley from Reading was jailed for her murder in 2014

The court heard he killed her after she went to meet him and tell him she was pregnant with his baby

TVP revealed they were una ware it was around Jayden s due date and declined to comment further on the timing

Police announced the staff have been referred to miscon duct proceedings following the Independent Police Complaints Commission s (IPCC) investiga tion into the police's work on the case

They are investigating the police s response to Jayden being reported missing and their contact with Jayden before she went missing in December 2013

The matter was referred by the police to IPCC on December 14 in 2013 and an independent investigation began.

Ms Shrewsbury admitted the police did everything they pos sibly could when the missing persons investigation became a murder investigation

These misconduct proceed ings will take the form of meet ings in which a panel usually of three decide whether the staff member is guilty of misconduct.

The hearings can take days or weeks and a date for them to start has not yet been set.

TVP said the internal process could result in a final written warning, but no-one faces dis missal as it is an investigation into misconduct and not gross misconduct

A brass plaque and a wooden bench are set to be unveiled where Jayden was found in Didcot s All Saints Church graveyard in her memory this Saturday

Ms Shrewsbury added, "I do not know if t will be able to attend the ceremony with all this going, it would be a real struggle

Jayden is now buried in St Martin's Church in Cherton close to her former hometown of Folkestone in Kent

Ms Shrewsbury opened a memorial garden in Didcot a Foxhall Road in April this year in memory of Jayden.

Woman dies in Turkey crash

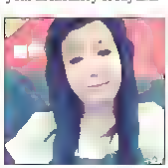
Elizabeth Worsell, 60, of Oak Street died in Yasam hospital in Antayla Turkey on July 21

An inquest into her death was opened at Oxfordshire Coroner s Court in New Road and post poned until January 6

Oxfordshire Coroner Darren Salter read out cause of death as pulmonary embolism due to deep vein thrombosis

Mr Salter read out evidence that the car Ms Worsell was trav elling in was struck by another car that ran a red light.



Oxford author defiant in face of schools 'injustice'

AN OXFORD author who is also his wife s carer has launched a petition after Oxfordshire County Council said they would not change school admissions rules to allow their daughter to go to their nearest school

Ian Johnstone's daughter Ella three was rejected from their first choice school and offered a place at one four miles away

His petition now has almost 2 500 signatures

Mr Johnstone, 42 said "We have been overwhelmed by the support we have received for the petition We now have more than 2 250 signatures from people who share our shock at the inflexibility of the admissions rules."

In April, Mr Johnstone and wife Emily Johnstone, 38 applied to send Ella to St Andrews Church of England Primary School— half a mile from their Headington home

But Ella was offered Cutteslowe Primary School

Mr Johnstone told the Guardian, "The county coun cil has responded via local media to say that they have no plans to change the rules because they work well for the majority and because it would be too difficult to define disability

Mr Johnstone has written letters to all of Oxfordshire's county councilors asking for them to lobby for changes as well as the Secretary of State for Education Nicky Morgan.

Oxford man died of mixed drug overdose

AN OXFORD mum described the ordeal of having to perform CPR on her son after he collapsed from a mixed drug overdose during an inquest into his death on Tuesday.

Joseph Sidney Birch, of Haslemere Gardens in Sunnymead died on April 8 this year.

Oxfordshire Coroner Darren Sailer gave a verdict of drug related death during the inquest at Oxfordshire Coroner's Court on New Road.

A toxicology report compiled for the inquest said Mr Birch had died from a mixed drug overdose.

The inquest ruled the sound designer had taken 'much too much' of three separate drugs.

His mum, Professor Dinah Birch, 61, described the ordeal in a report read by the coroner.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"He has previously suffered from depression and anxiety.

"I heard him going into the bathroom in the early hours of the morning and he told me he had a fall and hit his temple but I was more concerned with his demeanour as he did not seem well to me and looked like he was spaced.

"He seemed more depressed than usual and told me that he could not see his future any more."

Mr Birch was found to have taken doses of methoxphenidine described by the coroner as a synthetic drug with similar effects to ketamine, propranolol which is used to treat high blood pressure and hydroxymorphone which is used as a herbal drug.

A statement from his GP Dr Neal Tucker said earlier that year he had been on medication to combat anxiety.

Prof Birch, a former Oxford student, said she was taught to provide CPR on her son over the phone by an emergency operator after finding him collapsed before the paramedics arrived.

Their efforts proved to be unsuccessful and Mr Birch was taken to John Radcliffe Hospital where he was pronounced dead shortly afterwards at 12.43pm.

Prof Birch said: "I had to attempt CPR over the phone.

"From what I'm aware he had not taken any medication but he may have taken some earlier that morning."

Mr Sailer said in his verdict: "It is clear to me that Joe had a very low mood and that he suffered from anxiety but had no desire for suicidal thoughts.

"In short, I cannot be certain that he intended to take his own life.

"It seems to me that he has been taking too many drugs for a long time and this may have been an occasion where he took too much.

"I offer my condolences to the family on what is an extremely sad case."

Debate on 'England's Economic Heartland'

A combined local authority would require an elected Mayor, and Oxfordshire an idea Cllr Barber does not think would be right for the county.

Cllr Barber added: "It would be difficult to hold them to account and from my view, I am happy with the existing structure we have in place."

Oxfordshire LEP were approached for comment on the discussions for devolved powers but declined to comment.

Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for transport, David Nimmo Smith, said: "We have seen how the government is approaching the Manchester model with the Northern Powerhouse, and it is an approach we admire."

Chancellor of the Exchequer George Osborne signed a devolution agreement last year with leaders of the 'Greater Manchester Combined Authority' to devolve new powers and responsibilities to Greater Manchester in November last year.

County councillor David Nimmo Smith said that any plans to use the potential £2.8bn government investment on infrastructure would be looked at from next year, with no potential routes laid out.

He added: "The routes we'd consider could potentially be across the three counties but we have not had any formal discussions of where they'd be as we need to consider local businesses and infrastructure that would be affected first."

Council approves £10million boost for homeless families

By Alexander Ballinger
alex@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD City Council has approved a £10million deal to buy houses for homeless families in the city.

The decision will see the council invest £5m - and another £5m will be matched by social enterprise company Resonance Ltd - to buy around 50 one and two bedroom houses in and near Oxford.

The scheme was approved by the council's executive board last Thursday and will be the first of its kind outside London.

Executive board member for housing Scott Seamons, said: "With rising rents and cuts to in-work benefits it is becoming harder and harder to meet the council's statutory requirement to house families who are homeless in Oxford.

"In order to meet the needs of those families more cost effectively we are investing in a property fund, which will allow us to house them in locations that are near the city.

Oxford City Council will now enter a partnership with Cornwall-based Resonance and London based homelessness charity St Mungo's Broadway which will manage the properties.

As of May this year there were 938 people receiving financial support through the council's 'Home Choice Scheme' after becoming homeless.

There are 113 households in temporary accommodation in Oxford which includes bed and breakfasts and private rented accommodation.

The 50 families benefiting from the scheme will be offered rents in line with Local Housing Allowance rates of £834.98 a month.

Average two bedroom house price per month in Oxford currently sits at £1,091.

Resonance managing director Daniel Brewer said: "We look forward to talking with council officers in more detail about potential next steps in the Oxford area."

Housing homeless families with private landlords costs the council around £920,000 per year.

Bed and breakfasts are the most expensive provision - costing £350 to £500 per week.

The council is hoping to make an investment return through rent of around 3 per cent - £150,000.

Executive board member for housing, Cllr Scott Seamons

£2.5m renovation for pet rehoming centre

By Alexander Ballinger
alex@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

A PET rehoming centre is set for a £2 5 million revamp to update its facilities

Work on the Blue Cross centre in Burford is due to begin at the end of the year and will include new kennels new veterinary facilities and a refurbished reception area

The centre in Shilton Road is now appealing to animal lovers across Oxfordshire to help them raise £1 5m towards the renovations

Centre manager Jenna Martyn said. Our current facilities are out of date but our new and improved centre will offer a much nicer place for homeless and abandoned pets to stay while they wait for new homes

The designs of the new kennels and cattery will minimise risk of disease and reduce stress so the animals that come through our doors can find homes much quicker"

Blue Cross in Burford opened in 1990 and last year helped over 300 animals but are hoping improvements will allow them to double this number

The charity opened the world s first animal hospital in Victoria London, in 1906

They now run 12 centres and four animal hospitals across the UK in Oxfordshire Wiltshire Gloucestershire, Warwickshire and Northamptonshire

Ms Martyn added "Blue Cross is totally reliant on public support so we really hope the people of Oxfordshire will be able support us "

The centre is currently caring for five five-week old kittens who arrived just days old after their mum was killed by a car

They have since been adopted by another cat at the centre

The kittens will be ready to be rehomed at nine weeks old

Ms Martyn said. "Kitten s like Johnny Pepper Rita and Penny will really benefit from the new facilities once they are built

Oxford man imprisoned for sexual activity with a child

AN OXFORD man has been jailed for five years and four months for sexual activity with a child

Eugenio Layku, 35, of Cowley Road, pleaded guilty to sexual activity with a child under 16 at Oxford Crown Court on Monday

He was also placed on the sex offenders register for life and a second charge of child abduction was allowed to lie on file.

The offence was on February 5 this year with a girl under 10 in a flat in Cowley Road.

He was arrested on February 5 after the victim told police and charged on February 7

Investigating officer Detective Constable Peter Warne from Force CID at St Aldate's Police Station said "Layku did not plead guilty until the first day of his trial, which meant the young victim had to face the prospect of giving evidence in court

However she was then spared from having to endure cross-examination and the Judge took this into consideration reducing the sentence from six years

Community centre set for £1.5m works

OXFORD City Council announced this week it will undertake a £200,000 feasibility study to find a way to raise £1.5million for improvements to the East Oxford Community Centre.

The council is set to take over the management of the Princes Street centre from September.

Plans for raising the money could include the sale of the Film Oxford and East Oxford Games Hall sites.

The council's executive board member for communities and culture, Christine Simm said: "Community groups, centre users and local people will help shape those plans and everyone will be fully consulted on any detailed proposals, but we need to see whether or not the scheme is feasible and how it could look first."

The East Oxford Community Association, who currently run the site, were given a year's notice to vacate the site after the council said they were unhappy with the way it was being run.

The city council will now take control of the site from September 1.

Cllr Simm added: "There has been long standing concern about how the centre was managed.

"A plan was drawn up by the council and the trustees of the association but they were not met.

Independent architects will carry out the feasibility study and are set to be appointed later this month.

Cllr Simm said the £200,000 study aims to evaluate the three sites of the community centre, Film Oxford in Catherine Street and East Oxford Games Hall in Collins Street.

She added: "The study will consider the different organisations that need to be accommodated on the site and come up with proposals for how we can move forward.

"This could possibly involve the sale of the Film Oxford and East Oxford Games Hall sites."

Protestors gathered outside the community centre in July last year in an attempt to stop the council from taking it over.

Cllr Simm said the council would continue to support all of the groups and staff at the community centre. She added: "The community centre is here for everyone to enjoy and to join in. None of that will change."

Handbag theft

CARTERTON: A 56 year old woman had her purse stolen from her handbag after offering a lift to a man and woman in Witney Road, between Curbridge and Brize Norton.

The incident occurred at approximately 7.25pm on July 28.

The two people got into the back of the car and during the journey to Carterton the man put his hand into the victim's handbag, which was on the back seat.

The victim only realised her purse was missing after dropping the pair off at Trefoil Way.

The pair then made off in the direction of Sorrell Way.

Council change pavilion plans after residents' plea

RESIDENTS in Headington have managed to get Oxford City Council to amend plans for a new pavilion at the Quarry Recreation Ground.

The city council was planning to knock down the current building and construct a new pavilion with changing rooms, toilets and store rooms, along with a community space and kitchen as part of its city wide pavilion modernisation project.

A public consultation for the plans took place in March and April and responses led to the city council agreeing to move the proposed new pavilion back to the site of the existing one.

The new pavilion was going to be moved elsewhere in the recreation ground but residents were opposed to this change.

Quarry Rovers FC use the current pavilion and a statement from club secretary Nigel Boulter said: "We support building on the same basic footprint to avoid using any additional green space.

"We continue to work with the council to provide a workable proposal that meets the needs of the club and the local community."

The council also reduced planned parking spaces from 28 to five.

A formal planning application for the pavilion will be submitted to the council in the autumn.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames – has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. "One positive example of how double glazing is misused is we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many of these people have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a community perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave them in a tidy as clean as possible. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that approach is a major factor in his success. The truths that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge income of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.

So, if your windows are steamed up, in need of repair or damaged, give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Cost of crime

Terminally ill toddler in remission for second time

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan.c@gleanernewspapers.co.uk

THE two year-old daughter of a Wheatley dad has become a medical marvel after being the first patient at Great Ormond Street Hospital in London to go into remission twice after being diagnosed with a terminal illness.

Arun Kumar's daughter Elsie, was diagnosed with myeloid leukaemia in Down's syndrome last October.

She was treated with chemotherapy for the condition last year before relapsing this June.

Elsie's parents Arun 41, and wife Helen 43, were told she needs a blood stem cell donation to survive and the couple launched an appeal last month through cancer charity Delete Blood Cancer to find a blood stem cell donor for her.

However they were recently boosted by the news on July 23 that she has gone into remission for the second time, which is considered extremely rare by her doctors.

Arun told the Guardian: "The news was a massive step forward although we still need to find a donor and time is definitely of the essence."

• Elsie two with parents Arun and Helen Kumar

Despite going into remission, Elsie was dosed with another round of chemotherapy last Friday.

Arun added: "We hope it's the last one. Elsie's doing really well and her doctors are so impressed by how well she is coping with it. An adult could not deal with this much chemo therapy."

Elsie is an only child so does not have a sibling who could have a matching tissue-type.

Around 5,000 donors have signed up to register to see if they are a match for Elsie, with chances that one or two of them could be the donor she needs.

Her mixed England and Indian heritage makes it harder for a matching donor to be found.

Her condition is so rare that only one of its kind is recorded at University College Hospital in London a year.

Arun said: "There's still a mountain for us to climb but it is so humbling that people are taking the time to register and help us out. It means the world to us."

Town plans in the pipeline

THERE has been a lot of discussion in Wallingford recently about what facilities we need for the town, and how we want our town centre to develop.

And there has been huge disappointment Morrisons have definitely pulled out of their plan to build a new supermarket at the Hithercroft the vast majority of people in the town were very keen to get an alternative place to do their weekly food and grocery shop as Waitrose is not for everyone.

We are still hopeful a supermarket company will see the potential and we will get a shop there but we will have to wait and see who buys the site and what they want to do with it.

We've also had some very public discussion about the future of the Regal Centre.

While it is not the smartest building in town the town council is working on how to improve it and it does offer a large and flexible space where lots of activities particularly markets can take place.

While a redevelopment of that part of the centre of Wallingford is much needed the council's efforts to interest the other landowners with a stake in the site have not come to anything over the past 10 years so we are going to get on with what we need to do at the Regal.

The really important thing about both of these discussions is that so many people care passionately about the future of Wallingford.

We'll be getting on with developing a Neighbourhood Plan soon, and we hope to harness all that interest and energy to make it a really thorough and workable document that really sets the template for our future.

Cecil's death sparks worldwide outrage

By Alexander Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

FEARS that a second lion being studied by Oxford researchers had been killed by hunters in Zimbabwe were quashed on Sunday – days after the death of Cecil the lion sparked outrage across the world.

The director of Oxford University's Wildlife Conservation Research Unit, David Macdonald, nullified the rumours after a team of researchers found 13-year old Jericho alive and well on Sunday eating a giraffe kill with lionesses from his pride.

Reports that Jericho was killed by hunters arose over the weekend but park wardens now believe it was a different lion.

• Jericho the lion (picture by WildCRU/Brent StapelKamp)

Johnny Rodrigues, chairman of the Zimbabwe Conservation Task Force, said: "Apparently an illegal hunt did take place [on Saturday] and a lion was allegedly killed but it wasn't Jericho. "It was a case of mistaken identity."

WildCRU has also found itself under fire this week after reports that allegedly sustainable hunting organisations have donated.

Prof Macdonald responded: "Donors have no influence on our research whether their own views are for or against any particular issue."

Jericho's comrade Cecil was allegedly shot by an American dentist last month who lured him out of Hwange National Park using a dead animal with the help of hunters operating without the correct licenses.

The much loved lion's fate sparked a surge in donations to the Oxford research unit WildCRU – which has a base in Hwange National Park and studies human wildlife conflict with the aim of conserving lion populations.

The Cecil Appeal has so far raised more than £500,000 – enough to fund the lion project for over three years.

Professor Macdonald said: "Cecil was a glorious male lion with a fascinating family history as he maintained a large pride.

"Just a few months ago we were thrilled to watch him at close quarters in the field, and so his seemingly illegal death is heartbreaking.

"Our goal is to learn from it. Good can come from this if the world's attention can lead to support for our work to improve lion conservation – helping us buy satellite collars, maintain our field vehicles and train excellent young Zimbabwean conservationists."

Support has come from around the world with American comedian Jimmy Kimmel encouraging millions of listeners to donate.

American philanthropists Tom Kaplan and wife Daphne also pledged last week to donate $100,000 to WildCRU.

Cecil had been fitted with a satellite collar for the Oxford team to study his movements since November 2008.

The collar was put on Cecil by co-founder of the lion project Dr Andrew Loveridge, a senior research fellow with WildCRU at Oxford University.

He said: "Poaching is a huge problem in African parks, although Hwange is probably less affected by poaching than other parks in Africa."

WildCRU is working closely with National Parks authorities in Zimbabwe to prosecute those responsible for Cecil's death.

WildCRU's lion conservation project costs £150,000 a year to run, including £1,500 for each satellite collar.

Two new defibrillators for the Leys

BLACKBIRD Leys parish councillors have approved plans to install two life-saving defibrillators.

Councillors unanimously agreed the plans at a council meeting last Tuesday.

The defibrillators will be installed at Blackbird Leys Community Centre in Blackbird Leys Road and Catalyst Housing in Nightingale Avenue.

A Community Infrastructure Levy Grant from Oxford City Council funded the £1,350 for the equipment last year.

Blackbird Leys Parish Council clerk Nicky Clargo said: "The councillors have really pushed this through. We all thought it would be great to have them in the area for residents.

"They will be of big benefit and help increase the number of public defibrillators available for the public in Oxford as a whole."

They will be housed in yellow cabinets, accessed via a special code given to people by calling the emergency services – which will direct them to the nearest defibrillator.

They can help save lives of anyone undergoing a cardiac arrest and are designed for anyone to use, with instructions provided in the box.

Bisson's Rhythm & Blues

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

CANADIAN soul is making it's way to Oxford's Jericho Tavern with the Andre Bisson Rhythm & Blues Experience

Described as the new Michael Bublé by critics Ontario's Andre Bisson visits Walton Street for the first time on Monday August 19 after a successful tour in his native country

His Jericho Tavern stopover will be the third show in a tour across the UK.

And Andre believes being compared to fellow Canadian Bublé only spurs him on

"It's always an honour to be compared to someone who is a well-respected musician as I'm a fan of Bublé's music, especially his writing and arranging style" Andre told the Guardian

"Michael Buble has been able to bring back a genre of music from the past to a new audience

"This is something I hope to accomplish with my style of music"

After discovering his dad's Elvis Presley records at the age of 15 Andre's life changed

And on finding a Sears guitar under the bed in his parents bedroom, Andre taught himself the chords to some of his favourite songs

Fast track a few years later and he was playing in various bands before listening to songs recorded by soul group The Commitments which he described as a "turning point.

Since then Andre has been performing music with a heavy soul influence.

The Andre Bisson Rhythm & Blues Experience consists of Andre on guitar and vocals, Lorella Hale on the trumpet, Kevin Matthews on the alto saxaphone, Marie McNally on tenor saxophone, Mike Rowell on bass and Chris Downton on drums

Andre said he heard of the Jericho Tavern during his first UK tour in 2012 so it's a "real thrill" to finally get a chance to play there

He added "Canada is such a vast land and although it is what I love about the country, the distance from venues can be a bit long at times

"In the UK, the majority of the venues are closer together which allows us to cover more cities and reach more people in a short period of time.

"Overall, audiences in Canada and the UK are equally fantastic as both provide great support and respect for the musicians which is all a performer can ask for"

The 8pm show costs £12

The Jamie Felton Show

WE spake to Jamie Felton in December as he was gearing up for a New Year's Eve pub gig.

And he's since won Banbury's Got Talent, securing the stage of the town's Mill Arts Centre for himself – as the winner's prize for his first big show on Saturday August 15.

The 17-year-old Ardley teenager describes next Saturday's gig as "the biggest thing I've done in music".

Jamie claimed the top spot at the last event show in March on the same stage.

But the nervous yet excited teenager will not be on stage solo at the Spiceball Park venue, backed by a trusty band of school friends.

"It's my first proper show," Jamie told the Guardian.

"It will certainly be different to the more relaxed approach at normal gigs, but this is the type of professionalism I'm keen to obtain.

"I believe the music industry is the hardest industry to be successful in, as you can be the best singer in the planet but not be successful because it's 'right place, right time' to be spotted."

But far from leaving it to chance, Jamie is signed up to put in the hard graft at the Academy of Contemporary Music in Guildford.

By James Richings
jamesr@tigermenapapers.co.uk

Split into two sets, the first half of the gig will see Jamie playing well-known hits scattered with self-written tracks.

He will also play duets with Banbury's Got Talent runners-up Marley and D and Erin Tiger Lilley.

During the second half classic rock anthems will drum up the atmosphere, alongside another duet – this time with singer-songwriter Maddison Dearborough, who was another contestant on this year's Banbury's Got Talent.

"I couldn't believe it when the host read my name out as the winner and I'm so excited to give the best show I can give," Jamie said.

"All the staff at The Mill are so friendly too who's bringa a welcoming atmosphere so to perform on that stage again so I really can't wait."

The up-and-coming star has recorded three albums and just released his new single 'I Believe in Yourself'.

Tickets cost £10 with the show starting at 8pm.

The Amazons at D-Fest

DRAYTON is getting into the swing of summer music festivals with D-Fest this Saturday August 8.

It is a chance for up and coming musicians and bands to showcase their material for a chance to make their name in the industry

Among the eight acts performing at Lockway is alternative rock group The Amazons

The four strong Reading band is headlining the festival before embarking on their first UK tour this autumn which includes a stop at Oxford's 02 Academy in September

As a band they are used to the odd smaller show

"Driving up to Sunderland on a Thursday night to play to two people is soul destroying but it's part of a band's education and makes the bigger shows more valuable" Chris Alderton told the Guardian.

"However, if you disregard those shows you don't feel like you earn the big ones and you might just pick up two new fans if you do it."

The band formed a year and a half ago with bassist Elliot Briggs guitarist Chris Alderton Josef Joe Emmett on the drums and Matt Thomson as the vocalist

By James Richings
jamesr@bylinemedia.co.uk

Their energetic shows have caught the ear of many alternative rock fans

"People can expect a lot of energy and ringing in their ears for years to come Chris added.

"And sweat. Expect a lot of sweat, which mainly comes from our drummer Joe."

The Amazons released their first single 'Junk Food Forever' in May under their own record label Goth Cruise Records and plan to release a follow up track in October

And the work has begun to pay off, with people recognising their songs during her gigs

"For the first time we had people screaming the words back at us," Chris said

"The best thing about performing is making sure we give people a show that makes them want to come back and see us."

• The Amazons are headlining Drayton's D Fest (from left to right) bassist Elliot Briggs, guitarist Chris Alderton, drummer Josef 'Joe' Emmett and singer Matt Thomsen

And what's the story in the name?

"We went through lots of names and played a few shows to see if they were the right fit but The Amazons felt like the right name mainly because we want to feel we're a tribe that people can join if they like what they hear."

The free mini music festival which is now in its sixth year starts at 2pm until late

Will.i.am and Lexus indulge in laser light and sound show

Musician Will.i.am with the Lexus NX

MUSIC, art and technology have been fused together in Will.i.am's remix of his hit track #thatPOWER for Lexus' "Amazing in Motion" campaign.

It was created by the musician using hundreds of motion and sound sensitive lights, lasers and three Lexus NX crossovers driven by a team of top stunt drivers.

Captured in a video released last week, Will.i.am takes on the role of front man, battling against speed and rhythm to navigate the Lexus NX by hitting a sequence of laser targets.

"Working with the stunt guys to hit the laser targets in time with the music wasn't easy to get right but the result was awesome" Will.i.am said.

"The combination of technology, design and music in this project was out of this world."

The exploit was shot on July 21 this year on a disused airstrip in Spain.

The stunt team included Niki Faulkner whose movie credits include the 2013 biographical sports drama film' Rush' about James Hunt winning the 1976 Formula 1 Championship.

The lighting and laser rig was styled by a team of 65 technicians from Marshmallow Laser Feast (MLF), famous for working with some of the world's leading bands including the likes of U2 and Coldplay and took more than a week to install.

MLF's creative director Barnaby Steel said: "We've created a huge musical game with three stunt drivers as the players and Will.i.am as the conductor.

Music is brought to life when the cars hit beams of light that are motion sensitive at the correct time and rhythm, so it's basically like a giant laser harp with cars instead of fingers."

Barnaby added "The challenge for Will.i.am and the drivers was to navigate the light points on tempo.

When they fell off beat and triggered notes off tempo the system had to restart."

Alain Uyttenhoven, head of Lexus Europe added "We're projecting that the NX will represent one third of all Lexus sales across Europe this year, so it feels right that we've created something as bold as this event with Will.i.am – something that truly embodies our brand philosophy of Amazing in Motion.'

The Lexus NX introduced last autumn marks Lexus' entry into the mid-size premium crossover market.

The range includes the full hybrid NX 300h and the NX 200t, powered by Lexus's new 2.0 litre turbocharged petrol engine.

The video has been viewed over 300,000 times since July 30 at youtube.com/watch?v=yTFhbmUtp0

NEW CITROEN C4 CACTUS
FROM ONLY £165 - £219 PER MONTH ON PERSONAL LEASE*

According to the critics different is great, because they voted the New Citroen C4 Cactus hatchback of the year. It's full of clever ideas like the protective side airbumps and instead of the usual cluttered dash. There's a simple 7" touchscreen with built-in reversing camera. We think it looks pretty cool too. But that's just what happens when you do things out of the ordinary.

Concannon not happy with ref after red card

DIDCOT Town joint manager Ian Concannon is 'pumped' for the new season to start after he reflected on a great pre season for his side

Didcot Town were put to a stern test against a resolute Hungerford Town side but proved to be more than a match for the Berkshire based side in a goalless draw on Saturday

Chances were limited in a tight affair that saw Didcot midfielder Marvin Martin sent off for a 'rash' challenge on Hungerford's Allen Bossman with ten minutes left on the clock

Martin appeared to have lost his head after missing two consecutive passes before making the challenge though Concannon was unhappy with the refereeing of the decision

Concannon told the Guardian "The referee could have used a bit of common sense I was disappointed with his performance

"However I'll admit that Marvin's challenge was a bit rash but we could be looking at a three-match ban for him now

The draw meant that the result was Didcot's third clean sheet in a row as the side have worked hard to solidify their defence in pre-season

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Concannon added "Another clean sheet is great news for us as we were against a quality opposition and it was a great workout for the squad.

"This result will give the boys confidence, the game ticked a lot of boxes for us and our work rate across the ninety minutes was absolutely solid."

Didcot have enjoyed a relatively successful pre season with the only knock back coming against Oxford United in a 5-0 loss at the Loop Meadow Stadium on July 11 with the squad's biggest result coming in a 7-0 win over Abingdon United last Tuesday

Concannon added "Ultimately we played really well passed the ball well and were probably the better team

"I'm absolutely pumped for the new season to begin and I know that the lads will be raring to go."

Didcot Town face off against Larkhall Athletic in Bath on Saturday to start their season.

Predicted Didcot Town starting eleven: Bedwell, Elkins, Organ, Learoyd, Carnell, Ballard, Martin, Longford, Wilhams, McDonagh, Janes

Skolars teach the Blues a hard lesson

AN alarming dip in form continued for Oxford RL as they fell to their fifth defeat in a row against the London Skolars on Sunday

Oxford's Andy Speake returned from an injury lay off and Steve Scott was replaced with Charlie Green but The Blues simply couldn't get their game going.

The Skolars got the ball rolling after Kazeem Faturoti was allowed to break through the defence after six minutes. Mike Bishay converted

Skolars captain David Williams was then allowed to barge through on two separate occasions before Matt Cook dived over

Billy Driver added to Oxford woes with three of the four conversion attempts made and Oxford 28-0 down at half time

Will Lovell managed to give Skolars more breathing distance just after the break down Oxford's right side.

Josh Nathaniel finally managed to secure Oxford some points on the board to put the score at 32-6

Danny Thomas then managed to give Oxford their second of the day with Louis Richard kicking both conversions.

Bishay clambered through the Oxford defence after being fed by Lamont Bryan and John Paxton completed the route with a try for a final score of 42-12

Didcot star secures double-win at PF International meeting

DIDCOT karting star Elliot Harvey showed off his impressive skills with a double win in his preparations for the 2015 Karl Masters at the PF International in Lincolnshire

Harvey 13 said "It was overall a good weekend despite some hard moments. My aim was to get a good starting position for the final and I was pleased to finish on the podium."

Harvey's work in the first heat was evident, after he qualified second and despite a slight power disadvantage, was able to finish in his qualifying position.

He started the second heat in the same position and was able to make a good start but suffered various issues on the track as he was being caught out on the turns and finished 17th in the race

The third heat saw Harvey qualify in third and after a solid start found himself in second

He was bunched down to third but after waiting for the leaders in front to make a mistake he took his opportunity when they had come together and swooped in front to get a win and secured his second win of the day in the fourth heat

The pre final saw Harvey start the race in 6th and after some quick thinking and strong driving he drove himself to fourth.

The final race saw Harvey compete well and after starting on the grid in third he managed to maintain his starting place to the finish despite spending a majority of the race in 2nd to cap off a solid performance

Didcot Town 2015/16 season preview talk

AHEAD of the new Southern League Division One South and West season, sports reporter Loughlan Campbell looks at where Didcot are aiming to finish come next May

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan.c@jpinenewspapers.co.uk

DIDCOT Town is a team in flux. Last season held many positives and saw the fans spur The Diddy on a bid to reach the play offs

However after falling short in the last few weeks of the season the time came for recuperation a chance to relax and refresh the batteries before another season could kick into gear for the lads

For joint managers, Ian Concannon and Jamie Heapy the summer gave them a chance to re-evaluate their aims for the squad and see what was required to get their side over the line and into the Southern League Premier Didcot weren't lacking the goals or the spirit it was just a question of holding their nerve over the course of the season and with John Mills firing on all cylinders their front line looked formidable.

Although Didcot were then hit by a summer transfer stand-off with Mills, which is believed to have been about money leading to the striker's untimely departure to Hereford FC at the end of last month

Mills' 57 goals are sure to be missed and the news that Pablo Haysham had also joined him in departing the club for Hereford came as an even bigger blow for fans

However Concannon's confident that the signing of Ex North Leigh striker Conor McDonagh could prove to be the difference and he the star the side turn to for those winning goals

McDonagh has been impressive in in pre-season and is expected to help the squad adjust to Mills and Haysham's departures by knocking the ball in the net on a weekly basis

Mills departure will continue to be hard to take for Diddy fans however from the look of the side in pre-season training, it looks like he could be forgotten soon enough.

Bookmakers have Didcot pegged in for a promotion push, which may even result in a title challenge, but the club are not addressing these odds instead they are focusing on putting things together for which promises to be an unforgettable season at the Loop Meadow Stadium

Chapman looking to put his past struggles behind in Norfolk race

OXFORD'S Ginetta Junior Championship star Matt Chapman is raring to go as the 2015 season resumes at Snetterton 300 Circuit in Norfolk this weekend

The Total Control Racing driver has been on a summer break for five weeks and has had to suffer some difficult results this season after dealing with misfortune over the season's first five race meetings

Chapman commented ahead of the meeting: "We're going in to the second half of this season properly aiming for a fresh start.

"We had so much bad luck during the first part of the Championship but hopefully we can put all that behind us

"All year we've had the pace to challenge in the top six and to fight for the podium but for one reason and another it just hasn't worked out for us"

The 15-year-old is currently 12th in the championship and the teenager's biggest target is to qualify strongly at Snetterton to ensure a solid race finish

Qualifying has been the teenager's biggest problem with the teenager's best result of the campaign coming in the opening weekend in a seventh place finish.

Chapman added: "Qualifying is the most important thing to focus on and get right next weekend. I know the team will give me a great car and hopefully we can avoid any problems

Solihull beat City with 4-1 win ahead of new season

OXFORD City's preparations for their new season in the Conference South this weekend at home to Chelmsford City suffered a setback as they were swept aside 4-1 by Solihull Moors last Saturday

A goal from Bradley Bubb wasn't enough for City as a brace from The Moors' Andy Brown and goals from Liam Daly and Darryl Knights saw Oxford well beaten at the Automated Technology Group Stadium

Solihull took the lead when Stefan Moore set up Brown to stroke the ball into the right hand corner just after fifteen minutes

Knights provided a swinging ball into the cross shortly afterwards for Daly to beat his man in the air and add Solihull's second of the game.

Oxford striker Bubb then got himself on the score sheet against the run of play with a thumping drive

However Brown's second gave Solihull the upper edge heading into the break with a delicate dink into the corner from Michael Nottingham's cross

After the second half Solihull continued their attacking game but were unable to covert their dominance into a fourth goal.

With just over ten minutes to go Moore fed Knights the ball and he provided a delicious chop over keeper Laurie Walker into the Oxford net

Oxford will be hoping they are better at containing Chelmsford in what promises to be a fierce work encounter at Marsh Lane on Saturday afternoon

Appleton 'pleased' with pre-season progress

UNITED 'READY' FOR CRAWLEY

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan.campbell@guardian-series.co.uk

AFTER three months out, Oxford United are set to walk out at the Kassam Stadium on Saturday to kick off the Sky Bet League Two season against Crawley Town.

The match promises to be a solid assessment of United's character for the season with the hope that come next May The U's will be basking in the glow near the top of the table.

Pre-season has given fans hope that Michael Appleton's men can truly cause a stir from the beginning and challenge for those promotion spots early on.

Appleton said after his side's 0-0 draw against Coventry City last Saturday "I think we're ready.

"In possession, out of possession I thought there was an intensity and purpose about them and I think we look ready for the season now."

The U's were unlucky not to snatch a result against The Sky Blues in the final pre-season game, hitting the woodwork four times and providing a stern test for the League One side.

Appleton added: "I think the credit goes to our players for the way they went about their business. The way we went about things today was really pleasing for me."

Appleton has seen plenty to admire from his squad in the run up to the big kick-off with winger Alex Macdonald looking lively throughout the last few months and striker Patrick Hoban hoping to push for a first team place.

United have recruited well this summer with the stand out signings of Komar Roofe from West Bromwich Albion and Exeter City's Liam Sercombe proving to create a big buzz among the fans.

The U's have also seen club custodian keeper Ryan Clarke depart for Northampton Town and right-back Andrew Whing retire over the summer.

However the recapture of George Baldock from MK Dons on a season-long loan and the capture of Sam Slocombe from Scunthorpe United has seen the United defence refortified and has looked impressive in pre-season.

Crawley Town will no doubt prove a stern test come 3pm on Saturday afternoon but if United secure a good result then it could be onwards and upwards for the Yellows in what promises to be a definitive season for Appleton's tenure.
